

LINEMAN Pete Latonie fumbles with wire and pliers through pair of heavy winter gloves he wears to keep out today's 30-below cold. This is everyday routine for Pete, who keeps CNR telegraph lines humming.

MILKMAN Cliff Rowe appears to take a dim view of today's cold weather from behind a heavy fun-lined parka. Many drivers like him may be happy about possibility of no Sunday milk delivery in this weather.

MOTORCYCLE policeman Martin Urel wears a fur that kept some buffalo warm not so long ago as he makes rounds. Today's 30-below snap sees city's force "on the job as usual," so motorists take note.

MESSENGER boy Kevin Diffley leaves no more of his face showing than is necessary to see where he's going. Today Kevin, hit between different parts of town a little faster than usual.

Coastguard Cutter, Oil Tanker Set Afire in Atlantic

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—(BUP)—The Coastguard icebreaker Eastwind swept by fire after colliding with an oil tanker in a pre-dawn fog, was abandoned in the Atlantic ocean today with 10 of its crewmen dead, 19 injured and at least eight missing.

Ships arriving at the scene 98 miles southeast of New York Cape May, N.J., picked up 92 survivors from the Eastwind, which carried between 150 and 120 crewmen.

No victims were reported from the tanker, the SS Gulfstream, whose bow was seen in when it struck the Eastwind amidships near the chief petty officer's quarters in the dense fog.

Rescue ships had taken 92 survivors from the stricken Eastwind, which was built in San Pedro, Calif., in 1944 for war duty. The Coast Guard said the cutter carried a minimum complement of 110 crewmen and may have had as many as 120 aboard when she sailed from Boston.

The bow of the SS Gulfstream struck the Eastwind amidships in the peapack fog. A gaping hole was left in the starboard side of the icebreaker in the chief petty officer's quarters and a fire broke out around the bridge.

The Gulfstream withdrew with its bow stove in and a fire burning in her forward hold. However, at mid-morning she started for Philadelphia under her own power.

Not Burning Gas in Record Rate Here

CPR Asked To Submit Breakdown

Edmonton citizens were burning gas in record-breaking volume today.

Northwestern Utilities Co. officials predicted a whopping 75,000,000 cubic feet of gas would go up in heat and smoke before midnight Wednesday, a new all-time high for single-day consumption.

Most gas consumed by Edmonton previously was on Dec. 8 last when 73,583,000 cubic feet were burned.

Low temperatures also predicted today for the entire gas line system, with an expected 90,000,000 cubic feet likely to be consumed. Gas is also supplied to many smaller Alberta centres.

The gas company now has 30,400 customers in Edmonton. Back in the 1930's there were only 9,700 gas customers in Edmonton.

Low temperatures and huge increase in the number of customers in recent years are responsible for the new record consumption.

Previous to Dec. 8 the record for single day consumption was 65,325,000 cubic feet on Jan. 31, 1947.

New record was also set for the entire gas supply in severe weather through three main lines from the Kinross field, 78 miles east of the city. Main lines are 10, 12 and 16 inches in diameter.

Lines patrolled Pressure, forcing gas to Edmonton, is maintained at 100 pounds per square inch on a cold day like today.

Line-walkers constantly patrol the main between the field and Edmonton, watching for buckling and cracking of pipe in the severe frost.

Mr. Matheson said that the company's contention was that the Board of Transport Commissioners to break down the Company's $10,000,000 estimate of its working expenses for this year.

He didn't think the breakdown immediately as he wanted, but he obtained a board order for Mr. Liddy to give the components that were interrupted to ask down.

Coldest Weather in Two Years Holds City in Grip

Edmonton today finds itself gripped in the coldest weather to hit the gateway to the north for two years as an overnight low of 33 below was recorded at the Edmonton airport.

Started Edmontonians awake this morning to find their thermometers registering 11 degrees below the forecast of 22 below.

And the end is certainly nowhere to sight if word from our weatherman today is an indicator.

29 BELOW TONIGHT He predicts a low tonight of 28 degrees with a high Thursday of five below.

Tuesday night's low set a new record for the past two years, the previous low during that time being 20 below last February. It was also the coldest January in 1936 when mercury plunged to 37 below.

Despite the airport reading, some residents, especially in the west end, reported as much as 40 below.

RECORD LOOKED FOR With the increasing number of officials of Edmonton's transit system are looking forward to a record passenger volume today as battered Edmontonians scurry for shelter aboard the vehicles.

Only minor difficulty reported by the system was frost on tram lines which slowed down the street cars.

However, Edmontonians may find solace in the fact that their is not the worst lot to be handed out by the weatherman.

In Saskatchewan where two people have died within the last 48 hours in storm and southern thousands of workers are struggling to maintain communications and transportation facilities as blizzards continue to ravage the province.

No new snowfalls have occurred in the last twelve hours but crews are working "round the clock" to see "coldest weather."

NO SHORTAGE OF LABOR NOW If you are planning on making indoor alterations to your house, now is the time to do it.

One Edmontonian decided this would be so and phoned a real estate ad to The Bulletin for a carpenter to do the work.

The result was that he was nearly "swamped" with replies to the ad within hours of the paper appearing on the street. So if you are intending to do similar work, now is the time to do it.

ICY ROADS BRING CAUTION WARNING

Edmonton branch of Alberta Motor Association today asked motorists travelling northern Alberta highways to be extremely cautious and equipped with chains and shovel.

Most roads in northern Alberta are icy and dangerous in some spots, according to the AMA. Travel between St. Paul and Cold Lake is not recommended.

All other roads are passable, but some, especially in the Peace River area are heavy with snow. North and south roads through Edmonton are fair to good, but very icy in some spots and caution is advised.

One of the 11 passengers travelling in the two coaches suffered anything worse than a shaking up in the accident which took the life of Engineer Charles W. Penha, 65, of Moose Jaw.

Fireman Harold Ludwig of Regina suffered a fractured skull, broken pelvis and scalds from escaping steam. His condition was reported serious today.

Others injured, but in less serious condition, were trainmen W. Griffith of Moose Jaw, William Griffith of Shawanaga, Sask., and Dave Fillion of Moose Jaw.

Contents of the mail and express were destroyed when flames spread through the cars following the accident which occurred near the village of Scottsburg, 300 miles southwest of Moose Jaw.

Possibility that a passing motorist while seeking shelter at the station have lighted a fire that weakened the trestle is under investigation by the provincial railway police.

Pending detailed investigation, however, officials gave a preliminary survey of the bridge site indicating that the use of the bridge had been weakened by fire prior to the accident.

supply the proposed line of western pipe lines to Winnipeg.

About one-third of the Jumping Pound natural gas reserves could be used for other consumers while still supplying the needs of the proposed gas pipeline to the Pacific coast. Dr. John F. Dodge, geologist for the Shell Oil Company, said Mr. Miller.

He advocated a two-price system for natural gas if the decision is reached to export it from the province, one price for the outside customer and a lower price for the local provincial consumer.

A suggestion that there should be a standard "market" price for all consumers, the difference going to the provincial treasury, was "basically a Socialist or Communist argument," said Mr. Miller.

He advocated the development of supplementary natural gas sources, said a spokesman for the province, but he expressed anxiety that supplementary supply would not be as soon as possible.

1 Killed In Train Wreck

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Jan. 19.—(CP)—One trainman was killed yesterday and four others injured when the engine and four cars of a Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train crashed through a weak 100-foot wooden trestle and hurtled down a 40-foot ravine.

None of the 11 passengers travelling in the two coaches suffered anything worse than a shaking up in the accident which took the life of Engineer Charles W. Penha, 65, of Moose Jaw.

On the way for cross-examination on his brief of Monday for Canada's Western Petroleum Company and Northwest Utilities Limited, Mr. Miller said his plans for a provincial natural gas transmission system are still informal.

"A grid system, like an electrical system, covering the entire province, is premature and not necessary at the present," said Mr. Miller.

Jet Shattered In B.C. Crash

VANCOUVER, Jan. 19.—(CP)—ICAP officials today were piecing together details of western Canada's first jet crash which claimed the life of its 25-year-old pilot.

The dismembered body of Flying Officer John Allen Borrie of Vancouver, who is an employee of the B.C. Telephone Co., and wrecked RCAF aircraft only in week-ends. (See crash picture on page 8.)

Eighteen trees were sheared on the matchwood and a huge boulder was split by the plane before it struck Dan Mountain, 15 miles north of Vancouver, where meal over a square mile area.

A full-scale inquiry, commanded by Squadron Leader J. E. Allan of Ottawa, top air force inspection officer, is being made to determine the cause of the Sunday tragedy.

Officials said Borrie's parachute was found but they believed he did not have a chance to pull it to use.

Royalty Plans Exploration

CALGARY, Jan. 19.—(CP)—Early exploration for oil in new areas by the Royalty Oil Company is under active consideration, W. F. Heard, president of the company, says in a statement issued here.

The statement was released in connection with an announcement by Imperial Oil Company of the sale of its entire holdings of Royalty to Dominion Securities Corporation Ltd., in a deal involving some $150,000,000.

The announcement said the sale "make Royalty an independent organization enabling it to expand its operations by the exploration and development of new areas."

Royalty has a long record of successful operations in the exploration and development of oil properties in Alberta and for many years has been a leading producer of crude oil and natural gas in the Turner Valley field. The present management will continue to direct the affairs of the company.

City Will Abandon Boyle St. Project

Boyle street playground apparently will be abandoned as the site of the proposed central city garage.

City commissioners announced today that alternative sites for the garage were being considered.

And a meeting of the city council finance committee scheduled for this afternoon has been cancelled.

This meeting was to consider the proposal that the 150 car garage, the first unit of the central city garage, be erected on the Boyle street site.

Many PROTESTS Announcement of the proposal to erect the garage on this site was followed by protests from recreational and other organizations.

The Bulletin voiced strong opposition to the relocation of the grounds from playground purposes. Protests were registered against the proposal by the Recreation Commission, Trades and Labour Council, Boyle Street Community

Provincial Counsel Seeks Components Of '49 Expenditures

OTTAWA, Jan. 19.—(CP)—M. A. MacPherson, Saskatchewan freight-rater, suggested today the Canadian Pacific Railway is seeking a "blank cheque" for its 1949 spending.

The lawyer's contention came as he tried unsuccessfully before the Board of Transport Commissioners to break down the Company's $10,000,000 estimate of its working expenses for this year.

RC Teachers Ask Guarantee Of Immunity

MONTREAL, Jan. 19.—(CP)—Striking Roman Catholic lay teachers today voted to continue their walkout until the Catholic school commission guarantees them blanket immunity from reprisals.

The 2,000 teachers earlier accepted Archbishop Joseph Charbonneau's pledge of help in obtaining their demands for salary increases ranging from $300 to $500 a year.

At a meeting this morning they left their stand on the Roman Catholic archbishop's offer unchanged but voted to stay out of classrooms until Eugene Simard, archbishop's spokesman, says the commission is guaranteeing them immunity from any reprisals for going on strike.

They were told of Mr. Charbonneau's offer at a meeting last night attended by about 2,000 French and English-speaking teachers. Mr. Simard said that the French-speaking teachers, informed them that Mr. Charbonneau had offered to obtain the demands of wage increases.

During the refusal to accept a suggestion made by the archbishop whereby teachers taking part in the strike would be granted immunity and guaranteed their salaries during the walkout.

New Method of Extraction From Oil Tar Sands Found

Research Council Scheme Is Vital To Alberta

A new method of extracting oil from Alberta's tar sands is believed to have been discovered by the National Research Council, Ottawa.

Scientists of the applied chemistry branch of the Research Council say their method is a "direct distillation of oil from bituminous sand, using the fluidized technique."

TREASURE CHESTS

So far the northern Alberta deposits, veritable treasure chests of wealth if they could have been exploited, have been locked against Canadians because no commercial practical method of extracting the oil has been discovered.

Now the research council is working on one of the final phases of its experiments—a pilot plant which will extract about a barrel a day. In six months it is hoped to have the needed engineering data to go ahead.

However, Dr. R. Cameron, one of the scientists in charge of the project, cautioned against over optimism.

"DOES LOOK GOOD"—"It is a little too early yet to say just how far the method we used, but it does look good," he said.

The new process proves successful, it will open wide new horizons for Canada.

The bitumen-impregnated tar sands cover no less than 1,500 square miles and may possibly exceed 10,000 square miles.

In some of the deposits, it has been estimated there may be up to 25,000,000 barrels per square mile.

So rich is the area in some parts that a Dominion government report on section of this three square miles says: "This deposit is sufficiently rich and large to support six plants, each of 10,000 barrels a day capacity, operating for 30 years."

The research council reported its process would be economical since "all the heat required for its operation is obtainable from the combustion of the coke in the residual sand."

University representative on the executive will be J. D. Burns.

State Attorney William D. Hopkins said "it is very possible" that the firing of the gun which took the 27-year-old sportsman's life was accidental.

He added that he and Sheriff Stoutman are not discounting a theory that it might have been suicide.

Montgomery Branch Sets Canadian Legion Record

Edmonton has the largest Canadian Legion branch in Canada in Montgomery branch No. 24.

This was disclosed Tuesday by President E. ("Ted") Brown, during ceremonies installing officers for 1949 in the Memorial Hall. The branch has a paid-up membership of approximately 3,500.

President Brown warned against the apathy and "Let Georges do it attitude" that he said exists in the Legion membership during the years of peace.

There never was a time like the present for Legion members to work for the organization. He was giving his report, Mr. Kitch said mission work by the church had been extended a great deal in 1948. He also reported on renovations to the church which were completed during the year.

The church also raised more than $400 for Alberta Lutheran League Bible camp operations. John Hamer, Julius Dornel and John Metz were re-elected to the church board.

The ladies' aid society reported that more than $400 had been donated towards church repairs. Newly-elected officers of the ladies aid are: president, Mrs. J. Rennie; vice-president, Mrs. E. Queregnesser; secretary, Mrs. J. Thoppe; treasurer, Mrs. John Metz.

Wetaskiwin Hospital Will Increase Rates

WETASKIWIN, Jan. 19.—Wetaskiwin Community Hospital will bring its rates for non-residents into line with other class C hospitals. This was decided at a meeting of the hospital board on Saturday, under the chairmanship of Herman Strohschein, who holds office for another year.

Rates charged to non-residents of the city and the municipal district remain unchanged for the present time. Decision was taken as the result of a letter received from the Hospital Association suggesting this action. Public ward rates will now be $4.75 per day; $3.50 per day for semi-private; and $5.50 per day for private wards.

The prevailing shortage of nurses at Wetaskiwin has caused the board. The board will endeavor to make working conditions more attractive to the staff and one of the measures it is hoped to introduce in the near future is a straight working shift. At present a member of the staff may commence work at 7 a.m. and not be through until 9 p.m., although compensatory hours are given through the day.

Torrie Captures Westlock Final

WESTLOCK, Jan. 19.—Rink skipped by D. M. Torrie last Wednesday night, took the championship of the "spiel" that marked the opening of the curling season in Westlock this year. The "spiel," which featured 26 rinks was later ruled for a few days by warm weather which made the ice unusable.

The final game was a close one, requiring one extra end before the Rudy Renaud rink finally yielded the point necessary to decide the winner.

Three curling enthusiasts from Westlock travelled to the city to meet with the visiting Skelton rink who are touring the country. The meeting all corners at the ancient and honorable game, Westlock rink were J. Renaud, R. Poulter, M. Watt. They were accompanied by Mr. Bernie from Hurreford.

15,000 APPLICATIONS Glory of the Redcoats Is Widely Sought After

OTTAWA, Jan. 19.—(CP)—Fifteen thousand Canadians, Americans and Britons have tried to enlist in Canada's celebrated Mounties since the war.

Nearly 14,000 of them have been turned away by the new recruiting standards of the force's reputation and requirements—like the personal selection officer.

In the recruiting campaign that began the first day of 1946, the RCMP has added 1,064 new recruits to the force which now polices the North, the six Prairie and Maritime Provinces and some 125 towns. They have also recruited 68 men for the marine division.

With the exception of a few Britons who paid their way to Canada and sought recruitment all the newcomers are Canadians-born.

Strength of the entire force stands at 4,003, including 2,941 uniformed members. The rest are civilians.

A steady trickle of 30 recruits a month now is finding its way through 19, educational, physical and psychological barriers imposed by the personnel officer, an innovation which has won the approval of headquarters chiefs.

Fresh Spinach For Citizens-Maybe

By Bea Thrifty

Them as liken spinach will be happy as larks. I'm spreading this joy news 'cause spinach is supposed to be coming all the way from California just to please the vegetarians.

Wonder what Jack Frost has to say about this? Apparently the next few weeks will see a straightening out of warehouse and crop supplies.

Fresh spinach would be a treat for even me... who can't stand the stuff usually.

Though I'd like this seven-day diet we've been running in the paper a while. Seems the headline is expanding all the time. The weakest moment is mid-afternoon, time. But I've solved the problem. I've placed a large printed sign, warning me against the follies of that snack, right smack on top of the frig.

Well, the axes have it as far as the spinach milk diet. A couple of weeks, this brings a great eye of horror from everyone without refrigeration... and especially pasteurized milk. I've been told to feed Sunday just as much as any other day.

But we should be thankful for small mercies and rejoice that we don't live in Vancouver. There is a scheme afoot in that city to get rid of the milk delivery service for milk.

It's all in line with the threat of increasing the price of milk still further I suppose.

By selling operating costs, milk companies may make an effort to keep the price as is for a while at least.

Fresh spinach served with roux for dressing make a mighty fine salad for bridge 'n' the like... or as salad course with ham entrée.

Buy yours now for 59c a basket.

Heard from a gal who's tried the new Minute Curl in the teen-age vernacular... it's not all it's cracked up to be... but on the other hand it has some desirable features.

For instance, said curly-locks, it makes the curl stay in your hair for a longer period of time... but not to your hair up between washings.

It would be wonderful for sleepless nights if you curl your hair takes a beating from the damp air it would help for week-end returns... but the hair seems somewhat brittle after use.

Mother Goose books have weathered the years because they offer the child satisfaction for eye and eye. The jingles, maxims, and sayings, the best of the best, the best in sound. The repetitious rhyme sends the child into a happy mood to sing along with and sing over.

By the time the child is four he will have developed a curiosity about the life that is all about him. He will like nature stories of the Burgess type and other like them. He will like to read about the adventures of other lands. This is the time when the child's imagination is at its peak and he is ready to accept the most fantastic of tales.

At this age the books should be sturdy ones that will withstand the wear and tear of a child's hands. They should have large, clear pictures of familiar objects or things, and very simple subject matter. The child should be encouraged to put the book away carefully when the reading time is over.

One of the stretching exercises suggested to increase height in today's "Why Grow Old?" column is the one of making yourself as long as possible as pictured above.

WHY GROW OLD

Ways to Increase Height Given by Miss Lowman

By Josephine Lowman

Many readers ask how they can increase height. The following letter came to me recently. "I am taking a civil service test and am 1-inch short of the required height. I thought perhaps you could tell me of some stretching exercises that would help."

A. Unless your posture is perfect, I feel sure that you can increase your stature by a few inches simply through improvement in the way you carry yourself. Always to straighten up, not only through the back, but through the neck. Almost everyone has a little slump in this area. Do not allow your chin to protrude forward. Instead, keep your chin parallel to the floor and push toward the ceiling with the top of your head.

Also, take these exercises. If a horizontal bar is available, hang from it, for as many minutes as you can.

View at a time as comfortable. Also lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor overhead. Try to make yourself as long as possible. Another: Lie on the floor, arms resting on the floor at your sides. Try to lengthen your neck by pressing the spine through the region of the neck against the floor, and push back with the top of your head. Practice these exercises and also good posture.

Q. I am a woman in my late forties. I have never had a large stomach or large hips until this last year. I would like to know if I am too old for exercises to do any good?

A. No, certainly not. The exercises will be just as effective at your age as they would have been at the age of thirty. I think that the older a woman is, the more important it is for her to have a physical check-up before beginning exercises which are new to her. If you are in good health, with no organic or systemic trouble, you can begin exercises. However, if you have not done them before and have led a sedentary life, start in slowly and build up gradually. I think any woman in her forties should have a physical check-up before starting exercises. Your doctor will probably approve if you are in good condition.

Q. I am a girl of thirteen years of age. I have a 32-inch bust, a 23-inch waist, and a 32-inch hip. My problem is, how can I keep my figure in the worst places, and if I don't I am liable to gain in the wrong places.

A. Keep on doing whatever you are doing. Your proportions are perfect and I imagine your rough handling, and you know before you come to them. If you have a figure bride to come at some time in the future, write to me, but do not tempt fate now!

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Marrying at 40 Wastes Best 10 Years of Life

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—My boy friend says that a man is a fool to marry until he is over 40 years old.

He says that a man has to give up so much when he marries; that a man is still young at 40, while a woman is old, and that the man has to sacrifice more than the woman does in order to have a family.

What are your ideas on the subject?

ANSWER: Well, I think your boy friend's views are all wet. If a man waits until he is 40 to marry, he has missed the best years of his life, supporting, of course, that he marries happy.

He has missed the rapture of a woman that deepens every joy and lightens every sorrow, and he has missed those 10 crucial years of youth in which a man and woman can adjust themselves to each other until they literally become one.

By the time a man is 40 he has hardened into bachelorhood. He has gotten set in his ways and he cannot change them. The bloom is rubbed off of romance for him and he cannot lose with the impaired fervor of 30.

And at 40 a man's children are apt to be brats instead of playthings. Their noise disturbs him and he cannot enter into their amusements as he could if they had come to him when he was younger.

COMMON ILLUSION As for your friend's contention that a man at 40 is young and he can't know that it's a common illusion among men.

The old theory that women age quicker than men is being discounted in these days when men are under such a strain in business and women make a cult of preserving youth.

It is ridiculous to assert that the man makes a greater sacrifice than the woman in raising a family. Who goes down into the valley of the shadow of death to bring children into the world?

Who watches over the babies day in and day out, night in and night out? Who washes for them and sews for them? Who is first at the cradle and last at the grave?

If your kitchen floor has become dull and uninteresting but is brightened up by giving it a quick paint job. Select your own paint and paint. Put up the flat moment with a spatter pattern of rough handling. Do not cross blades before you come to them. If you have a figure bride to come at some time in the future, write to me, but do not tempt fate now!

Alternate Delivery System For Coats?

VANCOUVER. — (CP) — Vancouver housewives may soon have to put out milk bottles every other day. They are studying a scheme for deliveries on alternate days, similar to that used in many United States cities.
